Alcott was an abolitionist and a feminist. "Little Women" is a semi-autobiographical account of the author's childhood with her sisters in Concord, Massachusetts. "Good Wives" followed the March sisters into adulthood and marriage. "Little Men" detailed Jo's life at the Plumfield School that she founded with her husband Professor Bhaer. "Jo's Boys" completed the "March Family Saga".

This book contains some of the most powerful and effective gap-bridging units. What makes them gap-bridging is not their physical composition alone; but rather, it is their tandem use and application. There are essentially three components to the units: a vocabulary list, complete with part of speech and denotations; a grammatically incorrect short story that features the same vocabulary words from the first component list; and a set of comprehension / discussion questions that focus back to the short story. When protocols are followed, these exercises are enormously effective! My students have grown tremendously over the years!

It is necessary to integrate literature in the field of education, students will not only get the competence or certain knowledge of the subject, they can also learn to become better people in the future. The Sanata Dharma English Education Study Program continuously and consistently maintains it by having several literary courses. There is an Introduction to Literature, Prose, Poetry, Drama, and Play Performance. The author combines Ignatian Pedagogy as the spirit of Sanata Dharma University, including the use of technology "Learning" as a learning platform, and the latest news related to the topics in this book. The author hopes that readers will explore and understand themselves in order to act in the future after completing all this. The use of technology is applied by completing exercises that can improve their language skills and publish the results to "Learn" so they can learn together. In accordance with the material, this book not only provides a number of short stories and novels related to education from outside our beloved country such as Miss Awful, the Scholarship Jacket, Tobermory, Everything Changes, Two Friends, Happy Prince and Toto Chan. This paper also provides some exercises and discussion about the Javanese Princess Letter which is a compilation of Raden Ajeng Kartini's letters to her Dutch friends in the English version. This is done as an effort to find out the history of education in Indonesia and it is hoped that readers will not only study education in different countries but also reflect education in Indonesia.

Reprint of the original, first published in 1869.

Integrating literature in education, especially in language learning, is indispensable. Not only that literature enables students to gain competence in a particular area of knowledge, it also nurtures their compassion and conscience, developing them into whole human beings. To embrace this vision, a book that can facilitate students' learning is needed. This book is designed to assist both teachers and students of Introduction to Literature course to enhance their literary skills as well as their soft skills.

Envious of her best friends lavish lifestyle, a young woman wonders how different her life would be if she had an opportunity to change her past.

A young matron from a convalescent home is found dead in a quiet street. An earl's racehorse is the victim of attempted poisoning. A mystery bewilders police and diplomats across Europe. All of the twelve detective stories in this volume are puzzled over by Orczy's mysterious armchair detective, the 'Old Man In The Corner'.

"A dignified and impressive addition to your bookshelf that reveals James's virtuoso performance in a genre he helped to define, refine and elevate." — The Commercial Appeal This Library of America volume, the first of five of Henry James's short fiction, brings together his first twenty-four published stories, thirteen never collected by James. Encompassing a wide range of subjects, settings, and formal techniques, they show the first explorations of some of James's most significant themes: the force of social convention and the compromises it demands; the complex and often ambiguous encounter between Europe and America; the energies of passion measured against the rigors of artistic discipline. By his mid-twenties, James was a regular contributor to the most prestigious and popular magazines of his era. He is equally at ease writing historical tales, such as "Gabrielle de Bergerac," a love story set in pre-Revolutionary France, as he is exploring contemporary events, as in the three stories that treat the effects of the American Civil War on civilians. James's psychological acuity is already evident in "Master Eustace," a study of the ruthlessness of a spoiled child, and in "Guest's Confession," where the comic portrayal of an arrogant businessman hints at his cruelty and self-absorption. In "The Romance of Certain Old Clothes," and "The Last of the Valerii," James begins to work with the supernatural and fantastic motifs that would continue to surface in his work. Early examples of James's lifelong fascination with art and artists include "A Landscape Painter," about a young painter's attraction to a seemingly simple family living in a desolate coastal town, and "The Madonna of the Future," where an aging artist avoids the unveiling of his masterpiece. Adumbrating later triumphs and compelling in their own right, these stories reveal and accomplished and cosmopolitan young talent mastering the art of the short story. LIBRARY OF AMERICA is an independent nonprofit cultural organization founded in 1979 to preserve our nation's literary heritage by publishing, and keeping permanently in print, America's best and most significant writing. The Library of America series includes more than 300 volumes to date, authoritative editions that average 1,000 pages in length, feature cloth covers, sewn bindings, and ribbon markers, and are printed on premium acid-free paper that will last for centuries.

The family consisted of Effie's father, her stepmother, her brother Eric who was in the army, and a little personage, the most important of all, the only child of the second Mrs. Ogilvie, the pet and plaything of the house. You may think it would have been more respectful and becoming to reverse this description, and present Mr. and Mrs. Ogilvie first to the notice of the reader, which we shall now proceed to do. The only excuse we can offer for the irregularity of the beginning consists in the fact that it is the nature of their proceedings in respect to the young people, and particularly to Mr. Ogilvie's daughter Effie, which induces us to disturb the decorous veil which hangs over the doors of every respectable family, in the case of these worthy persons.
